

Steph Silver

Best Selling Author, Brand & Abundance Coach,
Dreamer, & Podcast Host

Steph savors the little things wherever she goes—like flowers in a field, sunlight through the trees, or sounds of laughter. Moving thirty times before she was seventeen, traversing between campgrounds, fully furnished homes, and homeless shelters, Steph used her optimism and grit to rise to a place of comfort, peace, and personal success. She is now on a mission to enhance as many lives as possible and to help humans thrive.

Her first book, Anywhere, USA is a memoir that reveals some dark sides of a turbulent childhood while shining light and optimism at every turn. This gripping and vulnerable coming of age story takes you from tears to laughter through love and inspiration.

Steph founded VINE Collective in 2018. Through individual and group coaching, retreats, public speaking, and brand work, VINE cultivates meaningful and memorable experiences that bring forth the most exceptional versions of each person and/or their brand.

Steph also uses her desire for human connection, authentic experiences, and profound growth to educate, and amplify leaders who live through their mission, vision, and passion as host of MVP Business Podcast.

with Steph Silver

"Steph Silver is a skillful speaker. Her powers of observation, of the natural world and of the people around her, are deep and original. But her real quality is her ability to look beyond people's surface capabilities and actions to understanding the reasons they act as they do."

What Steph Likes to Talk About:

- What is a brand experience?
- Why does every member of your team need to understand, embody, and be passionate about your mission, vision, and passion?
- How any person can sabotage their life with manifestation just as easily as they can build it.
- Why team meetings are more successful offsite and outside.
- How there is no bottom, and there is no top, only the limits we place around ourselves.
- How your life can be absolutely anything you want it to be.

Steph Silver

The Author

Feeling like she started adulthood from the back of the pack, Steph spent early adulthood working with break-neck intensity to rise into a position that made her feel worthy. Considering her upbringing, running an Ad Agency and working with world-class brands felt truly remarkable. But it was when she shared stories about her childhood with friends, who thought her past was too wild to be true, that Steph began to understand how chaotic her life had really been and what a miracle it was to transcend it.

Through writing about her life as a serial transplant, a child of addiction, and the kid who was always disappearing for one reason or another, Steph realized that, paradoxically, when she wasn't scared, she was a naturally happy optimist and adventurer.

Now as the owner of Vine Collective, Steph is dedicated to shining light, seeing beauty, and helping others see their own through brand-building, life coaching, workshops and retreats.
